

Abstract 28

Prevention and Cessation Interventions for Youth Steve Sussman*, University of Southern California, USA

This presentation will provide a summary of the effectiveness of school-based, family-based, mass media, regulatory, and community efforts on the prevention and cessation of tobacco use among teens.

Based on this summary, needs for future research will be discussed. An attempt will be to try to impart a general picture of the applications of tobacco programming on youth.